Here And There News Collected At Random

Historic Gettysburg today welcomed the Civil War Round Table, comprising 67 members from the Chicago area, five from Richmond and 12 from Washington. The Chicago contingent traveled by special train to Martinsburg, W. Va., and then by bus to historic areas in West Virginia and Maryland. They spent Friday evening in Frederick and came here this morning. The others came here by motor.

This is a most interesting group. They make up a corporation "organized to promote social, historical, educational and literary activities by its members, and particularly the study and analysis of events and personalities associated with the period of the war between the United States, commonly known as the 'Civil War'; to engage in the study of historical characters and events associated with that period; to foster and create publications of literary and historical value dealing with the history of the United States and particularly the Civil War period of the history."

The Civil War Round Table had its origin in a book shop in Chicago where men interested in Lincoln and the Civil War gathered to discuss their mutual interests. It was formally organized December 3, 1940.

Gettysburg is pleased to play host to these distinguished gentlemen whose so-called hobby has such a close relationship with the battlefield interests of most of us here. They are men who are thoroughly interested in the Civil War history of the country and who delve deeply into the various phases of the different battles, study the men who helped to write that history and encourage the writing of pieces pertaining to that period.

Gettysburg welcomes these gentlemen with open arms. May their all too-brief stay here be filled with hospitality, enjoyable observations of the Battlefield and a real good time.

And come back again real soon.

Kennan Flying To Acheson Conference

MOSCOW (AP)—U. S. Ambassador George Kennan left Moscow by air today for England to confer with Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The secretary is scheduled to leave Washington tomorrow on a 16-day visit to four countries, including a Big Three foreign ministers meeting in London June 27. Kennan's report will be his initial first-hand account to Acheson of conditions in Russia since he took over the ambassadorship early in May.

The State Department announced June 11 that Acheson would spend six days in the British capital, then go to West Berlin for a day, to Vienna for two days and on to Rio de Janeiro and San Paulo, Brazil, for four days.

WILL OBSERVE BATTLE EVENT ANNIVERSARY

Gettysburg Camp No. 112, Sons of Union Veterans, Friday evening decided to proceed with plans to mark the anniversary of Pickett's Charge by having several men in Civil War uniform walk sentry at the High Water Mark during the period from about 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of July 3.

Past Commander Jesse E. Snyder, who presided at the meeting of the SUV held in the GAR rooms on E. Middle St., said the memorial sentry duty "will be tried this year, and if it proves an effective and dignified method of memorializing the great event of the Battle of Gettysburg then it will be continued in the future."

Present plans call for four men to serve as sentries in the area, in memory of the Union forces who turned back the Confederate units at that spot on July 3, 1863.

5 Youths Are Guests

Five youths, ranging in age from nine to 12, who took part in the strewing of flowers on graves of unknown Civil War dead in the National Cemetery May 30 were praised by Dr. C. B. Stouffer. The five, guests of the camp Friday night, will form the cadre of a group of youngsters who will carry on the tradition of placing flowers on graves of unknown dead at the cemetery on May 30. This was started shortly after the close of the Civil War by the Grand Army of the Republic and carried on for the past half century by sons of Civil War veterans.

The last two of that group, Dr. Stouffer and Dr. Henry Stewart, performed the annual ceremony for many years. This year, with only Dr. Stouffer, now 86, able to carry on the duty, the group of great-grandsons was formed to perform the ritual.

Strawberries and ice cream were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Discovers Church Struck By Lightning

The Arendtsville Reformed Church was struck by lightning Thursday afternoon during the storm, but the fact was not discovered until Friday.

The fuse was melted into two pieces and the inside of the fuse box was burned but the structure did not catch fire.

STRAWBERRIES SHORT AT MART; OFFER CHERRIES

Strawberries, which last week flooded the Farmers' Market had almost disappeared from the scene at this morning's market, as the season drew to a close. The light supplies went rapidly at about 40 cents a box.

Cherries were replacing the strawberries, but had not yet assumed the dominant role they will as the season progresses. Sweet cherries, Carnations and Governor Woods, were available in fair quantities at 35 cents a box.

Most of the "regular" articles on the market retained their normal prices. Dressed chickens were 60 cents a pound. Large eggs remained at 50 to 55 cents a dozen, with prices proportionate for medium and pullets. Apple butter was 50 cents a quart, cakes $1 to $1.25 for whole cakes, 65 cents a half cake and 35 cents a quarter cake; cream was 40 cents a pint, 20 cents a half pint; pies were 40 to 50 cents apiece, bread, 20 and 25 cents a loaf, rolls 20 to 30 cents a dozen, cookies 30 and 35 cents a dozen, apple snitz, 30 cents a jar, butter 70 cents a pound; potato salad, 25 cents a pint.

There were a few Staymen apples available at 15 cents a quart box, 30 cents a quarter peck and 60 cents a half peck. Lettuce was available at 10 and 15 cents a box; onions, 10 cents a bunch; asparagus, 30 cents a bunch; beans, 20 cents a box, sugar peas, 25 cents a box; cabbage, nine cents a pound, rhubarb, 15 cents a bunch; lettuce, ten cents a box, parsley, five cents a bunch.

Some new potatoes were available at 10 cents a bunch. There were some quantities of flowers available, with the farmers apparently unable to set an exact price for any particular quantity, but rather were selling them at prices agreed between themselves and individual customers, many of whom were making up bouquets from the assortment.

20-DAY STEEL STRIKE ROLLS ON; CONGRESS FUMES IN VAIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 20-day nation-wide steel strike showed signs today of just rolling along despite administration statements made repeatedly during the past seven months that the nation could not afford even a one-day stop in production.

Congress failed at President Truman's failure to use the 80-day, no-strike injunction provision of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law. But neither Truman nor his top labor lieutenants showed immediate inclination to move from consideration of the law to its actual use.

Top officials of the vast steel industry, which normally turns out nine million tons of the vital defense metal each month, were reportedly in New York along with some key policy makers of the CIO Steelworkers Union.

New Effort Fails
There were reports the steel industry officials met under hush-hush conditions—a situation which in the past has been a prelude to talks with the union.

However, it was reliably learned that an effort was made yesterday to resume direct industry-union negotiations—and that it failed.

Administration sources said they had absolutely no word of any imminent peace talks. They said the New York meeting might simply signify further conferences between the two sides over the question of opening some struck facilities, a step both parties agreed to when contract negotiations broke down June 9.

Striking steelworkers and the industry set up plans in Pittsburgh yesterday to start finished steel vital to the defense program moving out of warehouses and plants by Monday.

Miss Evill had stopped her car preparatory to making a left turn when the crash occurred, police said. Damage totaled $170.

This morning at 1:40 o'clock five miles south of Fairfield on the Tract Road, cars operated by Charles E. Ridenour, 28, Thurmont R. 2, and Charles W. Whited, 37, Fairfield R. 2, sideswiped, causing $75 damage.

Escaped Convicts Terrorize 3 Towns

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Troops, Air Force planes and boats rushed today to the aid of three Brazilian coastal towns terrorized by 400 heavily armed escaped convicts, press dispatches reported.

The convicts yesterday smashed their way out of Anchieta Island Prison, where some of Brazil's most desperate criminals are jailed.

The reports gave this account of the escape: The prisoners overpowered their guards, seized their weapons, including machineguns, and escaped to the mainland in stolen boats. One prison warden and an undetermined number of guards were killed in the uprising.

The convicts landed near the coastal towns of Ubatuba, Sao Vicente and Caraguatuba, about 160 miles from Sao Paulo City in southern Brazil.

FINE REPORTS "BITTERNESS" IN DELEGATION

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, who may be one of the key figures at the Republican national convention next month, says he's never seen such bitterness as that among this state's 70-member delegation to Chicago.

Backers of both Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) are bidding for Fine's support. So far, Fine says he's undecided to either—or to any other candidate.

The governor told a news conference yesterday there's little hope of achieving harmony within his delegation.

Delaying Choice
The latest Associated Press poll shows 20 of Pennsylvania's delegates committed to Eisenhower, 18 to Taft and 32 uncommitted. Fine said he may not make his presidential choice before the convention opens.

A week ago yesterday he helped arrange a picnic at Gettysburg, Pa., so Gen. Eisenhower could meet Pennsylvania's delegates. A similar get-together is planned for the delegates with Sen. Taft. In recent weeks the governor also has talked politics with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a Taft supporter, and the convention keynoter.

"We Can Only Hope"
Saying he has never known such bitterness "as exists between the Eisenhower and Taft followers," Fine asserted:

"I'm sure that even if a majority of Pennsylvania delegates were to vote for Sen. Taft on the first or second ballot it would not lead Sen. Jim Duff (James H. Duff, R-Pa.) and the Eisenhower followers—at least a fair share of them—into the Taft camp."

"And I am just as much convinced that if a majority were to go for Eisenhower on those ballots that out and out Taft delegates would not follow suit."

Asked what he thought of GOP harmony after the convention has made its choice, Fine declared:

"We can only hope we can compose our differences after July and get together for the general election next November."

Snapped Slip Strap Costs Cyclist $2.10

WORTHING, England (AP)—What's a gal gonna do when her slip strap snaps while she's riding a bicycle and a policeman hails her?

Elsa Ivor, 18, blushed and pedaled furiously on, silk trailing around her ankles.

"It would have been rather awkward if I had dismounted," she told a magistrate yesterday. He agreed, but fined her 15 shillings ($2.10) for ignoring the signal. "I shall use strong elastic hereafter," vowed Elsa.

Issue Licenses To Two Couples

Marriage licenses were issued at the Court House today to the following couples:

Fred Stary Cline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Allen Cline, and Marian Louise Shafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Paul Shafer, all of Gardner R. 2.

James Joseph Kuhn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lignus M. Kuhn, and Helen Barbara Crouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe H. Crouse, all of McSherrystown.

BARE-KNUCKLE STAGE REACHED IN CAMPAIGNS

By The Associated Press
The Taft-Eisenhower battle for Republican presidential-nominating votes took on bare-knuckle aspects today, with the general primed for a "rip-snorter" speech and the senator saying his defense is solid.

All indications at Denver were that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's week-end dash to Texas and Nevada would mark a departure from his carefully polite routine to date.

His chief rival for the GOP presidential nomination, Ohio's Sen. Robert Taft, told a reporter in Washington: "I don't see how the Eisenhower people can break through to win at this point. They have not made the headway they expected when he returned home to campaign."

Tough Speech At Dallas
With 604 delegate votes needed to nominate at the GOP convention July 7 in Chicago, Taft has 467 to Eisenhower's 392 in the Associated Press tabulation. This tally is based on allowed and conceded first-ballot avowments.

After flying from Denver to his Denison, Tex., birthplace today, Eisenhower goes to Dallas for conferences and a speech. Aides said he will "take off the gloves" in expressing his views over the controversy surrounding Texas' 38-vote contested delegation.

Eisenhower visits the Hoover Dam at Las Vegas, Nev., Sunday for another talk, then returns to Denver Sunday night. This trip looked like an expedition to gain background for answering questions by convention delegates from the west, whose favor the general has courted in conferences at Denver.

Democrats Hunt Votes
Various Eisenhower campaigners have called the Texas wrangle an attempt "steal" by Taft forces. The Ohioan's backers retort that Eisenhower's Texas followers are really Democrats in disguise.

The issue—whether a pro-Taft or a pro-Eisenhower delegation should be seated—is docketed for settlement by the Republican national committee.

Vote-hunting forays were the order of the day for the three front-running candidates for Democratic nomination. The Associated Press scoreboard, with 616 delegate votes needed at the July 21 Chicago convention, lists Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver in first place with 246. Next come Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia with 114½ and Mutual Security Administrator Averell Harriman with 95½.

Bid By Harriman
Kefauver was in Chicago today, meeting with his midwestern backers. Tomorrow he makes what his camp called a "major speech" at a $25-a-plate dinner there. At Rock Island, Ill., last night he told interviewers he felt a Pentagon spending cut of four or five billion dollars annually would not hurt military freepower.

Harriman, bidding for midwestern support, addresses Nebraska Democrats at a Jefferson-Jackson Dinner at Omaha tonight. In Des Moines yesterday, Harriman said he can provide a new crusading spirit he believes America now needs.

Russell had a date today with Idaho delegates at Boise.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman Friday signed the $6,447,730,750 foreign aid bill.

The amount is 18.6 per cent less than he had declared was the minimum necessary for next year.

The cuts were imposed by a Congress which voiced support for the principle of foreign assistance but sharply criticized some aspects of the President's program.

GERM BOMBS ARE ALLEGED

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio charged today American planes have dropped germ bombs on prison camps in North Korea holding American and other United Nations prisoners.

The Communist broadcast, monitored here by The Associated Press, said one American soldier was infected by the germs. It said he is under medical treatment at a POW hospital.

The broadcast said U. S. planes have bombed and strafed prison camps in North Korea several times. It denied a charge by Allied truce delegates that the Reds failed to mark several camps so they could be identified from the air.

Peiping said Allied planes "stepped up their brutality" by dropping bombs filled with "germ laden ants" over Communist POW Camp No. 3 at Chongchang and Camp No. 7 at Unsi June 6.

The broadcast said Calles G. Pixley, an American prisoner of war in Camp No. 3 who helped exterminate "infectious ants" was infected and hospitalized.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has tentatively voted to lift price controls from virtually all consumer goods and drastically reorganize the Wage Stabilization Board.

The ripped and tattered extension of the administration's Defense Production Act faces other sharp changes when it comes up again next Wednesday.

First big vote then will be on a provision requesting President Truman to invoke the Taft-Hartley Law injunction proceedings in the steel strike.

PUT RUSSIA ON SPOT WITH CALL FOR UN INQUIRY

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States has put Russia on the spot by demanding a U.N.-sponsored inquiry into Soviet germ warfare charges.

The proposal, laid before the U.N. Security Council late yesterday, is certain to gain overwhelming support among the Council's 11 members.

This will leave the Communists two possible courses other than the unlikely one of agreeing to an investigation: Either Russia can veto the proposal or Communist China and North Korea can refuse to let investigators enter their territories.

May Backfire
In either case, the whole germ warfare issue as a propaganda move may backfire on Russia.

The question will come up for debate Monday afternoon. Russia's Jacob A. Malik made a long speech yesterday but he ignored the matter since it doesn't get on the agenda officially until Monday.

The U.S. proposal contains provisions which almost certainly doom it to the veto. The main one is a stipulation that the International Red Cross would be responsible for the inquiry. The Communists already have rejected U.S. government requests for an investigation by the Red Cross and have denounced the Red Cross as a biased organization.

Russia touched off the current debate by calling on the Security Council to appeal to the U.S. to ratify the 1925 Geneva protocol outlawing use of bacteriological weapons. Malik contended his move was not related in any way with the germ charges.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a bill designed to give all military personnel of voting age a chance to ballot in the presidential election this year. But it faces a dubious House fate.

President Truman has urged Congress to pass such a law. He said otherwise a million service men and women might be unable to vote.

Duff Angered By Attack On "Ike"

WHITE SOX STOP YANKEES 8 TO 5 IN 11 INNINGS

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox of 1952 don't get around the bases as fast as the 1951 go-go model, but Manager Paul Richards' current crew makes up for its lesser speed with more punch.

Swiftfoot afoot was the chief stock in trade of the 1951 team that skyrocketed to the top and held sway until it ran out of gas in July.

Richards swapped some of his swiftness for more power during the off season. The Sox got off to a poor start but they caught fire recently and are right in the thick of the pennant race today.

Four Runs In Ninth

The Chicago Sox staged a stirring rally last night to beat the pace-setting New York Yankees, 8-5, and pull to within three games of the defending world champions.

Chicago rallied for four runs in the ninth inning to tie the score at 5-5 and then won in the 11th when Sam Mele crashed a three-run homer off Bobby Hogue. Mele was one of the sluggers imported by Richards. The Sox skipper gave up speed by Jim Busby to Washington to obtain slugging Sam.

The Yanks appeared a cinch to score their eighth victory without a loss over Chicago as big Vic Raschi entered the ninth with a six hit. But the Sox scored a run and loaded the bases with one out to chase Raschi. Joe Ostrowski took over and Nelson Fox greeted him with a single to make it 5-3 in favor of New York. Hogue relieved Ostrowski and Minnie Mi-noso promptly singled to tie the score. Robinson ended the rally by banging into a double play.

Close To Red Sox

Fox opened the 11th with a double. Mi-noso was deliberately walked but the move backfired as Mele followed with a home run into the left field stands. The triumph was Chicago's 11th in their last 14 starts.

The victory moved Chicago to within a half game of the second place Boston Red Sox who were trounced, 9-2, by the fourth place Cleveland Indians. The Indians are a half game behind Chicago and 3 1/2 back of the Yanks.

Bob Lemon, supported by a 14-hit barrage, breezed to his sixth victory for Cleveland.

In other American League games, the Philadelphia Athletics stopped the Detroit Tigers, 3-1, and the Washington Senators and St. Louis Browns battled to a 5-5, 18-inning tie under the lights at St. Louis.

Old Satchel Paige starred in the marathon at St. Louis, longest game of the season so far. Paige took over in the eighth and pitched five-hit scoreless ball for 10 innings. He went out for a pinch-hitter in the 17th and Dave Madison finished up.

Dodgers Hold Lead

Meanwhile, in the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers clung to their five game lead over the New York Giants. The Dodgers edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4, on pinch-hitter George Shuba's two-run, two-out homer in the ninth while the Giants shamed the slumping Chicago Cubs, 4-3, in 10 innings under the lights.

The Boston Braves swamped the St. Louis Cardinals, 12-7, and the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Cincinnati Reds, 3-1, in other National League games.

Interstate

By The Associated Press

Hagerstown maintained its two and one-half game Interstate league lead over second-place Wilmington by squeaking past the Salisbury Indians, 3-2, while the Blue Rocks choked off a late inning threat to down York, 4-2 last night.

Lancaster climbed over York into third place, meanwhile, in pasting Harrisburg, 10-4, and Allentown crept to within a game of the first division with an 11-8 win over last place Sunbury.

Bill Wilson's pitching debut at Hagerstown was saved by a perfect throw to the plate from Right-fielder Joe Christian which cut down the potential tying run and ended a ninth inning Indian uprising.

Chet Malanoski, Wilmington's undefeated reliever, fanned Charlie Locke and Harry Wilson with the bases loaded in the eighth to protect a 3-2 lead which Al Leach sported when York's White Roses drove him from the mound.

Lancaster scored five runs in a big sixth inning to provide impetus in handing the Harrisburg Senators their second successive home defeat. Doug Gostlin and Arnie Fischer delivered homers to feature the spurge.

FEW FAMILIAR NAMES AMONG PGA SURVIVORS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (P)—There were a few familiar names still in the PGA battle today as 16 survivors of Friday's slaughter of favorites settled down to the decisive 36-hole matches in the pros' private golfing party.

There were Cary Middlecoff, a new member of the lodge; Vic Ghezzi and Bob Hamilton, both former PGA champions, and such well known journeymen golfers as Jim Turnesa, Roberto de Vicenzo, Fred Haas Jr. and Chick Harbert.

But, as you looked over the rest of the list, one by one, the big question arose: Who the heck is he?

Headlines Vanish

One after another, the golfers who have been drawing the headlines during the preliminary stages vanished from the scene yesterday when the match play started with Friday's two 18-hole rounds.

Calling the roll, Sam Snead, the defending champion who was shooting for his fourth PGA title, Lawson Little, Medalist Dutch Harrison, two-time PGA Winner Denny Shute, Harry Todd, Johnny Palmer, Claude Harmon and PGA President Horton Smith, all went down.

Lew Worsham, who beat Snead in the famous playoff for the 1947 open championship, did the trick again on the 19th hole.

Worsham was one of the first to go down in the second round which also saw the elimination of former PGA Champions Jim Ferrier and Chandler Harper, Lloyd Mangrum, ex-open champion, Jack Burke, Marty Furgol and Dave Douglas.

Haas, who hasn't been doing too well along the tournament trail lately, knocked out Worsham on the 18th hole.

Harbert stamped himself as a red hot contender yesterday when he was ten under par in his two matches.

Par at the Big Spring Course is 36-72.

Mrs. Porter Repeats

As Penna. Winner

NORRISTOWN, Pa., (P)—Displaying much of the form which led her to the 1939 national title and the state title in 1946, Mrs. Mark Porter repeated for the Pennsylvania crown by defeating Betty Fehl of Reading 3 and 2 in a 36-hole final match yesterday.

The former Dorothy German clipped three strokes off Women's par 75 at Plymouth Country Club in the first 18 holes, then staved off repeated rallies by Miss Fehl to clinch the match on the final 16th.

Miss Fehl, trailing by three holes at the halfway mark, surged and drew even on the 25th hole, then wilted under the pressure of Mrs. Porter's steady play.

Eastern League

By The Associated Press

Lots of Eastern League batters had cause for complaint today after some of the stingiest pitching since the season opened.

At Schenectady last night, Dick Smullen, who hadn't completed a game in more than a month, white-washed the Scranton Miners, 2-0. George Uhazue became the only 10-game winner in the league when the Albany Senators trounced the Williamsport Tigers, 6-3. Walt Janski yielded only five hits as the Elmira Pioneers defeated the Hartford Chiefs, 9-2. And Howard Rodemeyer pitched the Reading Indians to a 2-1 victory over the Binghamton Triplets.

Smullen's win over Scranton—a five-hitter—was his second shutout of the season. The last time the Blue Jays' southpaw went the route was May 15, also against the Miners, whom he shackled 5-3.

At Williamsport, Uhazue was nipped for only two safeties in the first seven innings, but four hits, two walks and two errors in the last two frames gave the Tigers three runs.

Games tonight: Albany at Williamsport, Hartford at Elmira, Binghamton at Reading, Scranton at Schenectady.

It was decided to stage the game as the second contest next Wednesday evening. In the opening game that evening East Berlin will tangle with the Glenn L. Bream garagemen.

4 NEW CHAMPS

AT AAU MEET

LONG BEACH, Calif. (P)—Four new champions graced the national AAU record book and fresh fireworks were in store today after an opening show that enhanced America's chances in the Olympic games and produced major surprises and a pair of mishaps.

The 64th annual meet, an important one in this Olympic year, comes to a close today with 12 events on the program.

Highlights of last nights five hour card included:

The defeat of World Record Holder George Rhoden in the 400 meters by Mal Whitfield — a spectacular upset in 46.4.

The 10,000 meter victory by Curtis Stone over Fred Wilt for a new American record of 30:33.4 — a time that would have brought America second place in the 1948 Olympics. It was the fastest an American has ever run the event. Wilt did 30:38.4 in Oslo in 1949, and set the old AAU record of 31:05.7 in 1949.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A PERSON'S SELF

When we speak of a person's self nearly everyone is apt to think that we refer only to the body of that one, but the real self spreads out. It's in the clothing, the books, the pictures, and in fact wherever a person's interests lie. It's there that a portion of that self may be found.

There is a chair in the Lincoln Court House at Henry Ford's Dearborn Village that Lincoln once sat in. When I first saw it I looked with reverence upon it, for the spirit of the great man seemed to linger there. Wherever the thoughts or interests of a person abide there you will find some portion of a person's self.

"Properly speaking," said William James, "a man has as many social selves as there are individuals who recognize him and carry an image of him in their mind. To wound any one of these, his images, is to wound him."

For many years I have the privilege of visiting a friend in one of our large Eastern cities. He had a country home, to which we would drive after luncheon or dinner in the city. There he had dozens of interests—a beautiful collection of oriental rugs, antique furniture, paintings, curiosities, a big barn that was a regular museum of collected things, a garden of flowers, statuary that my friend had made, his dogs, pigeons and birds, and acres of fruit and shade trees. A wonderful example of the spread of a person's self!

Whenever we meet and converse with a vibrant personality, something of that personality enters us, and when the parting time arrives, something of that self is left behind. We rarely give consideration to the fact that we are knitting ourselves into other lives, on every contact, to a lesser or greater degree.

This self of ours is something very elastic. It even enters the higher realms of the spirit, and then we honor it with the name of Soul!

JUNE GROOM

The lovely bride is fair to see; Her tresses decked with orange bloom. And yet, no wedding rite could be Without the sombre, nervous groom.

The columns of the daily press Describe the veil and bridal dress, But of the groom's new trousers, striped, 'Tis seldom that a word is typed.

A most important man is he, As no reporter would deny. But no one ever seems to see His high silk hat or ascot tie. And no one ever seems to note The splendor of his broadcloth coat.

Nor would a writer think it news To tell the groom had shined his shoes.

Time was a groom of June was I, And nervously I spoke my vow.

I wore the proper coat and tie, Forgotten then; remembered now.

And though it's many years too late, I think it only fair to state Though I was garbed as is a prince I haven't worn such finery since.

East Berlin

EAST BERLIN—Building operations are expected to begin shortly to erect a new kitchen building to the rear of Trinity Lutheran Church. Ground was broken for this building at a special ceremony shortly before Easter.

Miss Ann Dellone, eldest of the foster children of Miss Elizabeth Dellone, R. 1, who has just entered her senior year at Delone Catholic High School, spent the week end at Mendham, N. J., where she participated in one of the annual summer week-end retreats for Catholic laywomen. Two of the other children, Susie, who has been attending St. Gertrude's Academy, Washington, D. C., and Mike, who attends agricultural high school in West Virginia, returned home during the past week for the summer vacation. Mike is recovering from an injury to an arm. Susie will enter the Hanover Junior High School in September.

There will be no further evening devotions at the Paradise Rectory Chapel for the Paradise Catholic parish until the close of the summer season. The Rev. Francis L. Mignot, administrator, announces that similar services will be conducted each Sunday morning at the parish church immediately after the 8:30 mass. They will conclude with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart E. Chronister announced the birth of a daughter, Mary Susan, at home, June 11. Mr. Chronister and his wife, formerly Miss June Dory, Harrisburg, now have seven daughters and one son. Mr. Chronister's mother is Mrs. Mabel Chronister, near Red Run Church.

A shower of cards and handkerchiefs was arranged by relatives, friends and neighbors of Mrs. Edith W. Reynolds to mark her 80th birthday during the past week. Mrs. Reynolds, who was gravely ill several years ago, is now able to attend to the work of her large house with little assistance. She and Mr. Reynolds, who is also active, marked their 62nd wedding anniversary in February. Both are longtime residents of this section, she having been Miss Maggie Richick.

Plans have been made to hold the annual family picnic of Trinity Lutheran congregation at the Adams County Fairgrounds, between here and Abbottstown, on Saturday, July 5, with cars to leave the church "every hour on the hour" that afternoon between 1 and 6 to provide transportation. A fellowship meal will be eaten at the fairgrounds at 6 p.m. with each family bringing a basket lunch and the church treating to ice cream, coffee and soda.

Another family picnic being planned in this section is that for members of local Richard J. Gross Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to take place late in June at the South Mountain Fairgrounds, near Arendtsville. Final plans were arranged last week at the regular post meeting. Congratulations were extended to Past Commander Allan Moul upon his election as junior vice commander of the 21st District for the coming year. Past Commander Richard M. Smyers expressed his thanks to all those who helped with the Memorial Day parade in charge of the veterans. It was reported that although the hospital beds which the VFW provide for the sick of the community are all in use, they have rented another for Harry Loy, elderly local cabinet-maker who is very ill with a heart condition.

Among those who were present during the past week end at the formal keel-laying ceremonies of the USS Nautilus at Groton, Conn., with President Truman making the principal address, were: Mrs. Paul P. Lerew Sr., who has been spending nearly a month with her daughter, Mrs. Homer S. Bloodworth, Groton, and also Mr. Lerew, with their granddaughter, Jacqueline Lerew, who has motored to Groton to accompany Mrs. Lerew home.

Reuben B. Sclar, Silver Spring, Md., formerly of here, visited local friends during the week accompanied by his daughter, Marcia. Mr. Sclar is quite well again after an operation performed at a hospital in Washington, D. C., this spring.

NEW VIOLENCE FLARES IN KOREA ON RHEE STAND

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—Some 50 young Koreans Friday broke up a meeting of educators and civic leaders called to protest "dictatorial measures" of President Syngman Rhee.

Several elderly opponents of the President were bloodied as the shouting intruders broke down the door of the International Club restaurant, smashed chairs and used the kindling for clubs.

Police restored order after 10 minutes of violence. But the meeting called by the "National Committee Opposing Fascism and Defending the Constitution for National Salvation" was not resumed.

Attempting Compromise
The outbreak came during attempts to compromise South Korea's political crisis before Monday's showdown date.

Rhee is feuding with the Assembly over the provision in the Constitution which calls for the Assembly to elect a President June 23. He insists on an amendment providing election by the people.

A compromise—coupling Rhee's amendment to one giving the Assembly power to dismiss the Cabinet—was set for discussion tomorrow.

But about 38 leading Assembly opponents of Rhee said they would boycott the meeting. They argued the Assembly cannot act freely in the absence of 11 assemblymen arrested on various charges.

Backers of the compromise, including pro-Rhee members, claimed all but two or three of the votes needed to get the measure passed.

THE GRANVILLE LADIES SETTLE DUST PROBLEM

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., (AP)—The ladies of Granville, W. Va., apparently have dusted off that coal dust problem.

Two mines and a coal cleaning plant, shut down when the ladies formed picket lines, opened up again late Thursday, an official of the Christopher Coal Co. reported.

The women had picketed the plant, contending that dust from it got into their homes.

And when the 700 men employed by the company refused to cross the picket lines, the company had to shut down its Arkwright and Ossage Mines, in addition to the cleaning plant. The company said if the plant and tipple couldn't be operated, there was no use working the mines.

To See What Can Be Done
But the mayor of this town of 1,000, Clinton Cairney, who once was able to talk the women out of setting up a picket line, said they now have withdrawn.

The mayor and Henry Hines,

Want Veterinary School At State

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Poultry Federation contributed $300 from its treasury Friday to a fund for eventual establishment of a school of veterinary medicine at the Pennsylvania State College.

George Anthony, of Strausstown, re-elected president of the federation, said the contribution backed up a resolution adopted by the poultry raisers urging establishment of such a school at the college.

The contribution was earmarked for a fund for a research center on poultry and livestock diseases. Anthony said the poultry industry made the contribution toward a $37,500 fund sought from livestock interests to match a similar amount granted by the state legislature.

When the livestock industry has raised $37,500, it will be matched by the same amount of state funds and $75,000 added to $100,000 previously appropriated for construction of the new research center.

Crippled Girl Is Given HS Diploma

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pretty 18-year old Anna Marie Carner had her proudest possession today—her high school diploma.

Anna Marie received the diploma at rather unusual exercises—she was the only senior graduating this year at the D. T. Watson Home for Crippled Children.

The girl, stricken by rheumatoid arthritis six years ago, says she isn't too disappointed that she's not able to become an airline hostess as she wished. After all, she smiled, she's learning to walk again.

superintendent of the Arkwright No. 1 Mine, one of those closed, said the men at the mines and the cleaning plant went back to work at midnight EDT Thursday, after remaining away for the 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. shifts.

Cairney had said that the company has promised to contact the makers of the dust equipment at the plant to see what can be done.

Halloween celebrations are believed to have been derived from Druid rites.

U. S. MAY BUY PLANES FROM NATO ALLIES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced Friday it is considering buying airplanes from European member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The plan would involve use of U. S. mutual security funds to buy planes directly from European makers, chiefly for use by European nations—instead of sending aid in the form of U. S. planes.

Ambassador William H. Draper, special representative in Europe, said the North Atlantic Council has been requested to prepare recommendations for European production of war planes to help meet NATO requirements.

That action, he said in a statement issued simultaneously here and in Paris, is based on a provision of the Mutual Security Act. He said the act left to the executive branch of government the decision on how best to utilize U. S. funds for procurement of military equipment in Europe "to the advantage of the Mutual Security Program."

Draper's announcement of the contemplated plan to buy planes in Europe comes at a time when budget reductions in the U. S. had brought about a slow down in procurement of American made aircraft.

STRESS UNITY AT $100 GOP DINNER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Some 4,000 hungry Pennsylvania Republicans sat down to $100-a-plate unity dinners in Philadelphia and Harrisburg Thursday night and lustily vowed to support anyone who emerges from the GOP National Convention as the party's presidential candidate.

Upwards of 2,500 party campaign contributors shed dinner coats in the oppressive heat of Philadelphia's Convention Hall and loudly hurraed demands for "bold national leadership" made by keynote speakers from both sides of the Taft-Eisenhower political fence.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the man selected to deliver the nomination speech for Sen. Robert A. Taft at the Chicago convention next month, and Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.), an outspoken Eisenhower supporter, struck a chord of unity by assailing Democratic leadership and omitting mention of the men they support.

In Harrisburg, Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio), a Taft-backer, told $100-a-plate dinners, "I'm not against anybody in this campaign—I'm against the New Deal." Gov. John D. Lodge of Connecticut, an Ike supporter, told the same gathering "our victory may well depend on the choice we make."

Raise Ceilings On Foods For Junior

WASHINGTON (AP)—OPS has just authorized price ceiling increases for baby and "junior" foods. The increases range from 3½ to 8½ cents a dozen cans or jars, at the factory.

The agency estimated the retail price will rise by about a cent a can for canned baby meats, but not more than half a cent a can for other baby foods.

CABINET MEETS IN SWEDEN ON BLAST BY USSR

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The Swedish Cabinet met Friday to study the latest Russian blast in the flurry of angry notes exchanged between the two nations following the shooting down of a Swedish Flying Boat by Soviet jet fighters.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky handed the Russian message to Swedish Ambassador Rolf Sohlman Thursday night in Moscow. It emphatically denied the Swedish version of the shooting incident, which has aroused a storm of anti-Russian emotion in this traditionally neutral country, and demanded an end to alleged Swedish violations of Soviet frontiers.

Russian Countercharges
The ill-fated plane—a Catalina rescue craft with seven men aboard—was downed Monday in the Baltic Sea. All the crewmen were picked up by a German freighter.

The Swedes immediately protested to Moscow, claiming that the Catalina had been unarmed and had kept at least 15 miles from Soviet territory. The Russians claim their territorial waters extend 12 nautical miles from shore.

The Russians countercharged on Tuesday that the plane had flown over Soviet boundaries and had begun the shooting which resulted in its being downed.

Midnight Blaze Damages Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A midnight fire at the British Embassy threatened the main chancery, scorched an annex and did an estimated $10,000 damage before it was brought under control.

Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador, came into the chancery lobby wearing a topcoat over his pajamas to watch the blaze.

The only injury was to a fireman whose hand was burned.

Says State May Lose Child Welfare Funds

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Welfare Department says it will be faced with a loss of some $307,000 in accumulated child welfare funds if a bill now before Congress is passed.

Secretary William C. Brown said yesterday that the measure would take away from each state all unused money allocated by the federal government for child welfare aid.

He said the proposed law would hit the Keystone State hard because the $307,000 was accumulated to enable a planned expansion of welfare services to include 12 additional counties.

If the money is taken away, Brown said, the expansion program will have to be abandoned since present grants are insufficient to permit expansion.

"Don't Repeat '12 Disaster," He Warns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teddy Roosevelt's grandson favors Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for President. And the grandson—Theodore Roosevelt III—urges fellow Republicans not to repeat what he called the "disaster" of 1912.

Forty years ago, William Howard Taft beat Theodore Roosevelt for the Republican presidential nomination. The fight was so bitter—with Roosevelt charging steamroller tactics—that Roosevelt ran on a third party ticket, Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic candidate, was elected.

Some politicians have compared that historic scrap with this year's nomination battle between Eisenhower and Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft—William Howard Taft's son.

Aircraft Handler Is Being Tested

LONDON (AP)—The British aircraft carrier Theusis is carrying out first tests on a new mechanical handler for aircraft.

The implement, in the form of a small trolley, is operated by one man and designed to replace manual labor in hauling planes on flight decks and into and out of hangars both at sea and on land air bases.

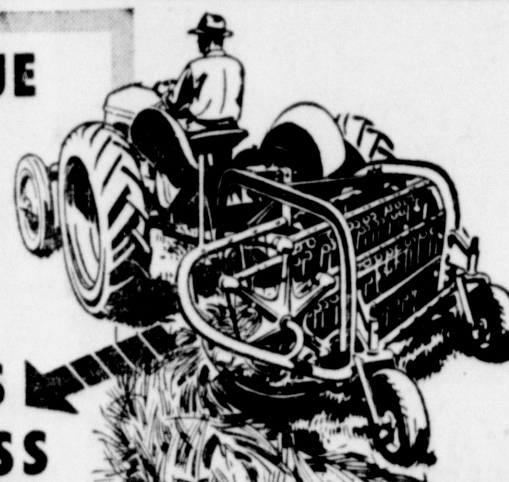

The British designers claim it enables one man to raise a heavy plane and maneuver it with ease.

Retiring Postman Given Surprise

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—When the word got around that Jim Randall was retiring as postman after 21 years on the same route some of his friends got busy.

One woman, Mrs. Gertrude VAN Arsdale, wrote some letters to those Randall served and later she spent two days walking his route. The result was a $452 gift to the 70-year-old postal veteran.

As for Jim, he plans to get another outdoor job. "I plan to keep on walking until I can't walk any more," he said.

YOU'LL SEE MORE DELEGATES AT HOME ON TV

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—You'll see more of the Democratic and Republican conventions, by watching TV at home, than any single delegate going to Chicago.

True, you may miss what some delegates have: a feeling that you're making history. You'll also miss the sweat, jammed restaurants, crowded hotel lobbies and tired feet from trudging around.

You may also miss some of the rumors of deals that drift out of the bars and committee meetings. But if you were in Chicago, you'd get a headache anyway, trying to keep up with them.

Can't See Everything
Any single delegate, simply because he can't be everywhere at once, sees only a small part of what's going on. When he's on the floor with his own state delegation, he knows what's going on right around him.

But there's so much uproar he can't hear what's going on in the delegations near him unless the chairman of one of them grabs a microphone on the floor and can make himself heard.

A delegate can hear what the speakers on the platform are saying, thanks to the loudspeaker system, if the noise around him isn't too bad. But if his delegation is seated far in the back, he can't see too well.

Might Get On Committee
If he's lucky, a delegate will be appointed to a committee, which gives him a chance to throw his weight around a bit. And it gives him an "in" on at least some of what's going on.

To those sitting at home, the TV cameras will bring the speakers on the platform and the delegation chairmen, grabbing microphones on the floor, close up.

Further, because they do provide a close-up, you may be able to see some of the people running around behind them. The roving camera eye will be able to bring everything closer for you than any delegate on the floor can see it.

While the camera may not be about to push its snout under the tent of every committee room, it should be able to get in on some of the news conferences called by the candidates or their managers, which is a big part of the convention but something the delegates miss.

This year the convention hall in Chicago is supposed to be air-conditioned. It will be a miracle if any air-conditioning can keep it cool, when you remember the crowd and the blazing camera lights that give off amazing heat.

Those camera lights won't blind you or overheat you at home. They will make the picture on your screen a little clearer. If you were at the 1944 Chicago convention or the one in Philadelphia in 1948 you'll remember the lights, the heat, the sweat and how you said to yourself: "I hope I survive."

New Oxford

NEW OXFORD — Maria, Kay, Dennis, Paula, Helene and Michael, children of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Moore, are able to be again after being confined to bed by illness at the same time.

The Sisters of Mercy, who teach at the local parochial school, have left for their summer vacation assignments. The convent will be reopened shortly before the opening of the school term in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hensel Jr. and daughter, Bonnie, moved from here last week to their newly erected house in the Hanover area.

Children who were recently dismissed from the local parochial school for their summer vacation were present Friday morning at the Catholic Church to participate with others of the congregation in the celebration of the annual feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. They attended mass at 7:30 a.m. and assisted in furnishing the music for Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament which concluded the special devotions immediately after the mass. The Rev. Robert D. Hartnett, pastor, was celebrant.

Helicopters Aid Alaskan Survey

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Helicopters are making possible the continent's biggest scale photography and surveying job.

The project will be carried out this summer for the third straight year in Alaska by the 30th Engineer Base Topographic Battalion from San Francisco, a unique unit of the Corps of Engineers.

Survey data is combined with aerial photos to make large scale layouts of militarily important areas in the vast territory. Last year they surveyed 24,000 square miles in 81 days. Thirty-six helicopters are scheduled for the 1951 project.

Yugoslavs Promise Pro-Red Crack Down

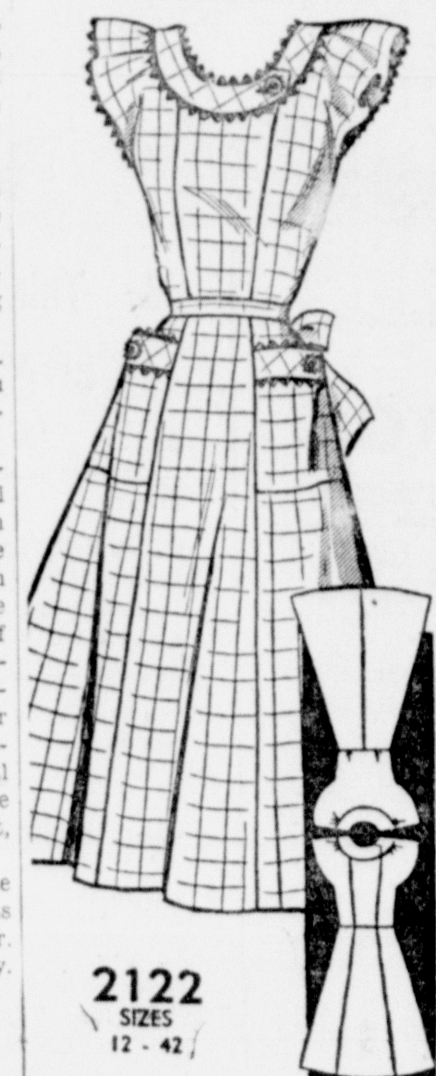

BELGRADE (AP)—Communist Yugoslavs may crack down soon on political refugees—particularly those from Italy—who shirk work in this country or spread pro-Russian propaganda.

The Belgrade newspaper Politika, reflecting the views of the government, called attention to the problem recently in an angry article denouncing a "minority" of such refugees abusing this country's "fraternal hospitality."

It was directed against both those who have fled the iron-fist Russian rule of the neighboring Soviet satellites and "especially" against refugees from Italy opposed to the administration of Prime Minister Alcide De Gasperi.

In British administered islands of Oceania, head hunting was, until recently, a vital part of the ceremonial life of the people and its suppression led to social decay and a sharp reduction in population.

STEELWORKERS START ISSUING ORDERS OF FOOD

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The striking CIO Steelworkers Union is starting to issue food orders for its hungry members and their families.

The latest development in the three-week old strike of 650,000 members of the union headed by Philip Murray came from Buffalo, N. Y.

Joseph P. Molony, a USW director, said hundreds of idle workers have appealed to the union for relief. He said they were referred to New York State welfare agencies but that to tide them over the union issued food orders to members its classed as hardship cases.

To Open Commissary
Molony said a commissary would be opened at union headquarters Monday in an effort to cut household costs for the strikers' families.

Strikers are not entitled to unemployment compensation. But they are entitled to relief aid—just as anyone else. A state of emergency has been proclaimed by Pittsburgh district officers of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Assistance so it can clear relief applications faster.

In addition to the 650,000 striking steelworkers more than 100,000 other workers in allied industries have been furloughed as a direct result of the strike.

Look For Odd Jobs
In the Pittsburgh district, where some 100,000 steelworkers are striking, grocery sales are falling off. Many of the idle steelworkers—who spent the first few days of the strike painting around the house and working in the gardens—now are looking for odd jobs.

Meanwhile, the New York Times reported an unsuccessful effort was made to resume industry-union negotiations at New York. The Times said "some meetings were held" but that no progress was made.

Although no resumption of contract talks is in sight, the steel vital to the nation's defense effort will start moving out of some strike-bound warehouses and plants by Monday. The union, agreeing to the government plan, has warned however, that only vitally needed steel is to be moved and "no agreement has been made to operate any struck plants."

Stricken Girl To Receive Monkey

DALLAS (AP)—After Rose Marie Sebastian, 11, became almost completely paralyzed by polio, the desire she had always had for a pet monkey became stronger.

A letter she and her mother wrote to the Brownsville zoo has produced results through a monkey importer. The monkey was recently trapped in Costa Rica and began a long journey to the bedside of Rose Marie.

"I can't wait till he gets here," she said. "Mama fixed a bed for him right next to mine."

SENATORS DIVIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward Martin and Sen. James H. Duff were on opposite sides in the roll call vote that defeated a bill to cut 10 per cent from the 666 million dollar appropriation for rivers-har-bors and flood control projects.

Duff voted Thursday with the majority, 50 to 27, in killing the cut. Martin favored the slash.

Between Book Overs

Those of you who read these comments on our cars and the important business of using them safely and economically will, I am sure, be interested in learning that at long last a book of mine on the subject of automobile care is now on the market. It bears the title "Fred Russell's Car Care" and will be flashing at you with its bright yellow cover from news-stand racks from coast to coast. This has been a long time in prospect and I sincerely trust that it will provide the handy guide which many of you have been anticipating as a permanent record of some of my millions of words on the subject.

"Car Care" is one of a number of titles put out by Fawcett Books of New York, highly successful publishers of popular priced works on subjects of wide appeal. You may have seen and bought their books on sport cars which have had such phenomenal sales. The first edition of my book is 100,000 which will give you some idea of the magnitude of the project. Fawcett has sold over four million 75 cent books in two years. Predictions are that mine should go to a half million because of the wide interest in the subject itself.

Natural Course Of Events

Publication by Fawcett came about naturally. For some years I have been doing a monthly department for Mechanix Illustrated, one of their most successful ventures in a string of magazines. Larry Eisinger, now editor-in-Chief of Fawcett Books, was crafts and hobbies editor of Mechanix Illustrated at the time when my department was beginning to swell the Russell audience. It was his belief that many readers would welcome a book on car maintenance that was generously illustrated. Thus the motorist who hasn't time to read details can now see how a major part of the car works and what needs to be done merely by glancing at the pictures and attractive drawings. Robert Brightman who now edits my material in Mechanix Illustrated is himself a widely known photographer, and his touch is quite evident throughout the pictorial pages of the book.

A large staff is required to produce and edit each of the books in the Fawcett series. Each book has its own editor. In my case this is Herbert Levy from Cleveland. When I saw him in the throes of putting together the various layouts I realized for the first time that publishing can be as complicated as automobile assembly.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"Reading over my copy of the new Russell Car Care I find some mighty simplified explanations of things that are always difficult to explain. Subjects like action of the differential, the difference between Hotchkiss and torque tube drive, vapor lock, ignition timing and transmissions. Since I always have to make my own comments, I want to go on record as pointing out that the book helps accelerate one of my own theories.

"I've always contended that one of the worst mistakes a car owner can make is to understand only one car—his own. He really can't understand this car of his, however, unless he knows something about other cars, and other features of mechanical design. Russell gives my idea a boost by showing various types of car parts, so that the reader gets a general as well as a specific grasp of the subject.

Make Them Rhythmic
Ever since hydraulic valve lifters came into wider use there's been a revival of interest in tap-clearances on conventional motors. This is natural enough, but it has led to the error of thinking that the way to quiet operation is to battle to get the clicking out of one persistent bad actor. The truth is that if all the tappets click a bit, but in rhythm, they won't be annoying as if all but one were extremely quiet.

Some odd things have occurred in the process of reaching book publishing house was considering writings. Right after World War II one of the largest New York publishing houses was considering a million copy edition of a book by me on the subject of "Your New Car." Paper supplies were checked and found to be adequate. The editorial department liked the arrangement of the copy. Things looked set for a real splurge. But, as with Broadway and Hollywood, there is always the chance of the unexpected happening. Believe it or not, someone had a somewhat different idea as to what the company ought to do, and when all the chips were down I discovered that the firm was launching a book for boat lovers. So you never know.

For Future Reference

One of the car makers is telling its dealers to be sure to disconnect the vacuum spark control when checking and setting ignition timing with a timing light. Unless this simple precaution is observed the setting will not be accurate.

Just how much of a bet broadcasters are missing by not sending all TV shows out on radio too may be a question, but certainly millions of motorists would swell the audience if they could just listen in to the proceedings without actually seeing them.

Listening to a TV show without seeing it is not at all strange. Most performers are gifted in the art of helping the audience grasp situations through the conversation, just on the theory that many of them may not see too well or even be quick enough to catch what is being conveyed visually. They also take into account the likelihood that many sets are not picking up the station too well anyway.

Anyhow the motorist would like a little more variety in his programs and he sees no reason why he should not be able to listen in to those shows which can also be seen at home. Some such arrangement would greatly swell the sale of car radios.

Weight Change The Skid

One of the things it pays to keep in mind when changing from a light car to a heavy one, or vice versa, is the need for changing your procedure should the car start to skid on an oily or muddy road. The heavier car won't skid as easily but it will require quicker corrective action should its rear start to slide around toward the front. Lighter cars skid more easily but can be straightened out with less effort. One risk lies in applying the wrong corrective action. Always cut the front wheels in the direction the rear is sliding, but cut more quickly and more sharply the heavier the car. If a light car is corrected too sharply it can be thrown into a counter skid.

Having Their Troubles

Q. In using the heavy duty oils which have detergents in them is it advisable to change oil less often? H. D. D.

A. These oils are always doing a cleaning job as well as lubricating. You can't get rid of the dirt, gum and varnish they are holding in suspension unless you drain it off. The best advice seems to be to drain these oils every thousand miles; more often when first used.

Q. What would cause a rattling in the brakes? I removed the wheel cover to make sure that there wasn't something rolling around inside. Wm. L. K.

A. You may find a broken tractor spring for one of the brake shoes of that particular unit.

Q. I have been troubled with the carburetor flooding. The fuel pump's pressure isn't abnormal the float doesn't bind against the bowl wall. L. N. M.

A. At this point it would be well to suspect dirt in the gasoline. This may be getting through to the float needle valve preventing it from closing tightly. Check the little strainer which should be just ahead of the needle valve seat.

Q. Why does a leaky muffler always make a puttering noise even when the car is slowing down? Sometimes this is more annoying than the drone when accelerating. Wm. G. Jr.

A. Interesting. With the throttle closed the gases are not under the same pressure, therefore, are more inclined to leak out at the holes in the muffler rather than be forced through the muffler as when accelerating. Atmospheric pressure working against the gases also has something to do with it.

Q. What can be done to prevent fading of the car's finish? I have ordered a new car in a color which may be affected and don't want to take any chances. F. F. McN.

A. A painting expert advises waxing the finish as soon as you take delivery of the car. It is neither necessary nor desirable to

ANNOUNCEMENTS

In Memoriam 3
ZIMMERMAN: In loving memory of a dear mother, Annie M. Zimmerman, who passed away one year ago, June 21, 1951:

You can only have one mother, Patient, kind and true. No other friend in all the world Will be so true to you.

For all her loving kindness, She asked nothing in return. If all the world deserts you, To you mother you can turn.

So all I can do, Dear Mother, Is to go and tend your grave And leave behind a token of love To the best mother God ever gave.

A happy home was once enjoyed, How sweet the memory still. But death has left a loneliness That never can be filled.

To those who have a mother, Treat her with love and care. You will never know her value Till you see her vacant chair.

Sadly missed by her children.

ZIMMERMAN: In memory of my dear wife, Annie M. Zimmerman, who passed away one year ago June 21, 1951. I miss thee from our home, Dear Wife.

I miss thee from thy place. A shadow o'er my life is cast, I miss the sunshine of thy face. I miss thy kind and willing hand, Thy fond and earnest care, My home is dark without thee, I miss thee everywhere. Sadly missed by husband, John B. Zimmerman

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County

This is the ninth in a series of historical talks given over Radio station WGET by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Adeline Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

The Rev. Fr. James Pellenz served at Conewago Chapel from 1758 until his death on November 21, 1799. After 1768 Father Pellenz was superior of the mission, which included responsibility not only for the area in and about Conewago, but also for all of Pennsylvania west of the Susquehanna River, and much of Western Maryland.

As superior he exercised spiritual authority over assistants from time to time. One of the most famous of these assistants, and indeed the most famous figure ever to be connected with Conewago, was the Rev. Fr. Demetrius Augustine Gallitzin.

Demetrius Gallitzin was born December 22, 1770, at The Hague, Netherlands, where his father, Prince Demetri Gallitzin, a distinguished scientist and former privy counselor of Empress Catherine the Great of Russia, was Russian ambassador, after having served his country for 14 years at the court of Louis XV of France.

Lithuanian Origin
The Gallitzins boasted of medieval Lithuanian origin from a prince whose descendants furnished rulers for Hungary, Poland and Bohemia. Prince Dmitri married Countess Amalia, daughter of the Prussian Field Marshal Von Schmuttera or Schmetter and his Roman Catholic wife, Baroness Von Ruffert. Amalia was reared as a Roman Catholic but as a result of her later education in Protestant Berlin, and her marriage to a deistic adherent of the orthodox Catholic Church, who lost interest in revealed religion.

The son, Demetrius, was reared formally in his father's faith, and tutored by the ablest teachers. In his early childhood he had little association with either his father or his mother. Later, his mother gave her full attention to the education of her two children, first at The Hague and later at Muenster, where her intimate circle included Goethe, the learned Jesuit, Baron De Furstenberg and others of similar standing.

In 1786, after a severe illness, Amalia turned again to her childhood faith, and became a zealous Roman Catholic. Under this influence the next year her son was received into the Roman Catholic Church, taking the baptismal name of Augustine as a sign of his conversion.

Shortly thereafter, having completed his formal education, Demetrius was appointed aide-de-camp to an Austrian general then fighting the French Revolutionists, but he soon after retired from this service on an imperial order barring foreigners from this service. A young man of his standing would have embarked upon a "grand tour" of Europe as a part of his education, but the disorder in Europe at the time made this impractical for Demetrius. Instead, he obtained permission to travel for two years in the West Indies and in the United States of America.

Accompanied by a Roman Catholic priest, Father Felix Brosius, who later became an American missionary priest, Demetrius sailed from Rotterdam, but under the name of Augustine Smith or Schmet. He arrived in Baltimore on October 28, 1792. Among the letters of introduction which he carried was one to Bishop John Carroll, who had been consecrated as the first Roman Catholic bishop on August 15, 1790. The previous year Bishop Carroll had been selected for the episcopate by American priests as a special concession of the Pope. The American priests were also allowed to name the seat of the first American See, and Baltimore was their choice.

Attracted in Baltimore to Bishop

Carroll, and the Parisian exiles of the Order of the Sulpicians who had just established the first seminary of the church in America, St. Mary's Seminary, Gallitzin decided to renounce the court life of Europe and devote himself to the struggling church in the United States.

Spoke Six Languages

He completed the seminary course and was ordained a priest by Bishop Carroll on March 18, 1795, becoming the second priest ever ordained in the United States who had had his full theological training in the United States. Because of his earlier education and general cultural attainments (he spoke Dutch, Russian, Polish, German, French and English) he could have become a seminary professor, but this life of scholarly seclusion he rejected for the rigorous life of a missionary. Prince Gallitzin became Father Gallitzin, but he seems to have carried the name of Smith or Schmet in his work.

He was assigned, upon ordination in 1795, to service at Port Tobacco, Maryland and the German community of Baltimore and Conewago. From Conewago he went on his long journeys into the Allegheny Mountains, suffering all the hardships of both the pioneer and the missionary. He was a man of slight frame and relatively delicate health, so that the hardships were doubly severe on him. On his long journeys into the back country he went into Western Maryland and even into unfriendly Virginia.

In 1796, having traveled 150 miles from Conewago on a sick call to Captain Michael McGuire's settlement on the summit of the Alleghenies in modern Cambria County, he conceived the idea of a Catholic colony in this general vicinity. Since Captain McGuire had already given 400 acres of land toward the support of a resident priest, Bishop Carroll assigned Gallitzin (still called Smith) to work in 1799.

Becomes Naturalized Citizen

He gave the name Loretto to the settlement which he projected, built a log cabin and a log chapel, and was ready for the Christmas service. From this center he attended the people of his faith in a wide area. Turning aside from the pleas of his father and his mother that he return to Europe, he finally decided to cast his lot permanently in backwoods America, and naturalized as an American citizen at Huntington in 1802.

His colony project developed and he bought land with funds which came from home until the death of his father in 1803. This land he re-sold on easy terms to his colonists. He never accepted a salary but supported himself from his model farm. As a further charitable work he supported a number of orphans.

At first he was bitterly opposed because he was a foreign priest. Because of his position and his background, he was inclined to be dictatorial, and that increased the opposition to him. However, his bishop supported him, and the better element came to see that a strong hand was needed to guide the destiny of the colony and to enforce the discipline of the church. Americans, and especially American frontiersmen, were impatient of restraint and the exercise of authority in any sphere. He finally won their confidence and demonstrated his sincerity and charitable purpose.

Assumes Original Names

In 1809, by act of the Pennsylvania Legislature, the legal use of his own name was established, and thenceforth he was openly Father Gallitzin, or Prince Gallitzin, when necessary. He was no longer Father Smith. However, the legislative act was required to validate all legal papers which he had signed under the name of Smith.

While the establishment and development of the colony was not a grandiose scheme, it was still a costly venture, at least under the easy terms to the colonists which Gallitzin introduced. He is supposed to have expended about $150,000 and thus came to be deep in debt. This was not only for land and its development, but also for improvements, such as saw mills, whereby to develop a worthy social environment. What he had there represented all that he was able to save from a great fortune which he had sacrificed by becoming a priest, remaining in America and spending what did come to him on his colonial venture.

Paid His Creditors

By the close of his life his creditors were paid, but to accomplish this he endured much suffering, anxiety and persecution, and denied himself all luxuries. He sought no ecclesiastical preferment, but was nevertheless recommended for high positions. Such as he might have taken were denied him by opposition of his enemies.

For years he was the only Roman Catholic priest in what are now the dioceses of Pittsburgh, Altoona, Erie and part of the diocese of Harrisburg. Loretto still stands as a monument to him, and on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad on the plateau of the Alleghenies after the Horseshoe Curve has been negotiated, the town of Gallitzin reminds the traveler of this great but humble spirit. He died on May 6, 1840, but his memory is still fresh in those parts of Pennsylvania where for 41 years he was faithful to his calling.

FIRE FIGHTING ON FARMS

What would you do first if you discovered your barn or residence on fire as you finished reading this question? Stop and think about it. Ask the other members of the family. These are a few of the urgent facts about farm fires which should be discussed not only in the family circle but in every community.

Much in keeping farm fire losses low depends on what is done in the first five minutes. Within that brief time most fires are small. Little damage has been done. A minimum of intelligent effort is necessary to extinguish the blaze.

Five facts merit emphasis for action when a farm fire is discovered:

1. See that all human beings are taken to safety.
2. Signal promptly to neighbors for help.
3. Fight the small blaze with maximum skill.
4. Protect other buildings, livestock, and property.
5. Be prepared by neighborhood organization.

In none of these important steps is there room for excitability. There are none main sources of farm fires: (1) Matches; (2) Hot ashes or embers; (3) Cigarettes; (4) Oily rags; (5) Decaying vegetation; (6) Friction of machinery; (7) Sun on glass; (8) Faulty electric wiring; and (9) Lightning. From these sources operate three essentials for fire—fuel, heat, and air.

Because there are three basic essentials of fire, there are three effective ways to put it out: (a) Starve out the blaze for lack of fuel; (b) Smother it by shutting off the supply of air; (c) In the case of spontaneous combustion, cool the smoldering materials.

The soda-acid extinguisher is suitable for fighting fires originating in all combustible solids—wood, trash, paper, dry vegetation, and similar materials. It is not effective against fires in oils, greases, and electrical equipment. The same is generally true of foam and vaporizing extinguishers.

Common baking soda is effective to smother ordinary kitchen fires resulting from burning greases. It should be shaken over the blazing surface.

If the community organization includes cooperative arrangements by which mechanical equipment from adjacent towns or villages can be called to farm fires, then every farm should include an adequate supply of water planned and maintained for fire protection. Storage tanks, barrels, cisterns, ponds, and reservoirs are within the range. If the water table is near the surface, shallow wells may be dug or drilled for this purpose.

Among general sound fire-fighting rules are the following: Do not waste time and water or chemicals by throwing control liquids blindly into a smoky room. Locate the actual blaze and apply water or chemicals there. Always work ahead of the fire to prevent its spread.

Do not unduly damage property with more water than is necessary. A small quantity of water applied at the proper place will accomplish more than many times more applied hit-or-miss. Do not stand in front of a door or window into a burning building when it is opened. Fresh air may cause an explosion. Stress prevention by the utmost safety.

NOTES ON JAPANESE BEETLES

The destructive Japanese beetle will arrive within the next week or two. It can be greatly reduced in feeding numbers by cooperative, intelligent efforts on the part of all citizens in a community. Among such efforts may be listed any means or practice that kills individual beetles or prevents their grubs (larvae) from developing into beetles.

First in time among combat measures is a treatment of lawn soil to destroy the newly hatched grubs. DDT, chlordane or lead arsenate may be applied almost any time from late winter until late fall. Applications in early July will kill many of the grubs that hatch out before autumn and which otherwise might damage grass by feeding on the roots.

Of course, trapping is an easy and inexpensive method of combat. Commercial bait to last an entire season costs less than 50 cents. Because the bait lures adult beetles by its smell, traps should not be set closer to susceptible plants than 10 feet, else the insects may alight on the plant instead of entering the trap. Several contact insecticides will kill Japanese beetles if the insects are actually coated with the spray. Strong soapy water is effective in this role. Black Leaf 40 may be added to increase the lethal effects. Apparently contact sprays are most effective between the hours of 10 o'clock in the forenoon until 4 in the afternoon.

Feeding beetles may be jarred from heavily infested plants onto canvas, oilcloth or other fabric spread beneath the branches. This should be done early in the morning while the insects are sluggish. They are then easily killed by turning them into a basin of water with a film of kerosene on the surface.

This pest may be driven from any kinds of plants by coating the foliage with white materials even though the material is not poisonous. Apparently they dislike white. Therefore, hydrated lime may be freely used where edible fruits and vegetables are infested. In a spray form a fairly durable coating is made by dissolving 4 ounces of aluminum sulphate in 5 gallons of water and then adding 1 pound of fine hydrated lime. Because the lime settles rapidly, frequent stirring is necessary.

When it is necessary to combat the beetle on vegetables and fruits whose edible parts are exposed, rotenone should be used, either as a spray or dust. The spray form can be made from a special tonemone (derris) powder sold for making sprays or from one of the several liquid concentrates, such as NNOR, prepared according to directions.

Sweet corn is often the most severely attacked crop of the garden. Two or three applications of fine hydrated lime into the ear tips will usually protect this crop. Foliage of snap and Lima beans may be protected with the lime-aluminum sulphate spray, with lime dust, or with rotenone as a spray or dust.

Do not use DDT on any food crops. While many state and federal sources advise this dangerous poison, wisdom suggests a safer wore a dress of yellow net over taffeta, matching bonnet and mitts, and carried a basket of mixed flowers. The ringbearer, Philip Walder, nephew of the bridegroom, was dressed in white.

Francis Sneringer, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. A wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home for members of the immediate families. A reception will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Bonnevillier Fire Company hall after which the couple will leave on a wedding trip to St. Anne's Shrine, Quebec and Niagara Falls, Canada. They will reside with the bride's father.

The bride, who graduated from Delone Catholic High School in 1949, is employed by the Bonnevillier Sewing Factory. The bridegroom, a 1946 graduate of Delone, was recently discharged after serving 45 months in the Army, including 35 months on foreign soil and Korea.

Communists Rap Pro-U.S. Texts

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists have found "venomous worship of U. S. ideology" in a couple of their own geography texts.

The official Peoples Daily of Peking charges one book made the party-line error of saying the United States led in reserves and output of coal, oil and iron and was first in the production of copper, zinc and lead.

The newspaper said the geography should have noted instead that Russia surpassed the United States in copper and lead reserves. The book also erred in failing to mention the "aggressive purposes" of the U. S. in the Pacific.

The newspaper rapped the second book for observing: "The rich mineral resources are the major factors in the U. S.'s success as a capitalist nation at the highest industrial level in the world."

OSU Experiments For Better Geese

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The widely known geese research program of Ohio State University dates immigrant geese which their Italian owner didn't want to cart back to Italy.

The pair, one of which still survives, were obtained by the university 13 years ago at the conclusion of the World Poultry Congress in Cleveland. Since then the poultry science department has been busy experimenting to produce geese which are good layers and in which the sex may be determined by the markings.

Prof. E. L. Dakan, originator of the project says that whoever coined the expression, "Silly as a goose," didn't know what he was talking about. He also says geese are miserable when left alone but in flocks they "grab like a group of girls at a freshman hop."

Singapore Settles War Debt Of $695

SINGAPORE (AP)—The Singapore government has agreed to square a long standing account with Ceylon started when the Ceylon government rendered cash assistance to Malaysians who were evacuated there during the Japanese attack on Malaya.

Total Ceylon government assistance to Singapore citizens amounted to $695. Over the past two years, the colony had tried to recover the debts from the individuals concerned, but was able to collect only $51. The colony Legislative Council has therefore agreed to provide the funds to pay off the debt.
